United Way of Broome County Celebrates 100 Years with First Friday Exhibition: A Century of giving back and driving change: the United Way of Broome County."

WHAT: In 1918, our community came together to share in one large appeal to help the people in need. While our name in the community has changed, our mission has not; we continue to bring the resources and expertise of thousands of people and organizations to make a difference in Broome County.

In celebration of organized philanthropic giving throughout the years, United Way of Broome County will be showcasing a 100 year exhibition on April 6th, 2018. This First Friday event at the Bundy Museum of History and Art, is a free exhibit showcasing the organization's past, present, and future. Learn about how United Way of Broome County came to be and the impact the organization has had in the community.
